This is the second book in the Fort Liberty Series.

Lt. Colonel Voss has been ordered to escort the Earth girl, Niri, to the secure BIOSTAT facility for the final stage of her scientific indoctrination. Engineered to be the first fully compatible human, she will now be introduced to the microbial Martian colony she was born to host.

Voss knows his team may fall under attack from the group of unidentified subversives who want to stop the experiment by killing Niri. He knows they could strike him where he least expects it. He doesn't know that they already have, and Petra---his unofficial ally and the one woman he can't seem to forget---is already in harm's way.
